“Maintaining Culture in the Global Environment”

The WIPC:E Emerging Leaders' Summit will be hosted by local Aboriginal community members, eager to share both their world views and cultural traditions with interstate and international delegates of the World Indigenous People's Conference: Education (WIPC:E).

WIPC:E will bring together Indigenous people from all corners of the world, from Taiwan to Toronto, Bangladesh to Botswana. It is not everyday that an international Indigenous gathering is held right here in Melbourne. And it's not everyday that Koorie youth take over Rod Laver Arena for a day of debate, performance and interactive workshops.

Wednesday 10th December 2008
9am – 6pm

Rod Laver Arena

The Emerging Leaders Summit is FREE for all registered WIPC:E delegates.

Day registration is available at the discount rate of $220

PROGRAM

Speakers: Join tennis champion and Indigenous role model Evonne Goolagong Cawley, Jirra Lulla Harvey, a young Koorie writer and arts curator; and a surprise international guest as they share the stories of their journey.

Yarning Circles: Break into discussion groups that address issues such as race and gender representation in hip hop culture, the Indigenous education movement - from our perspective, and what the National apology means to future leaders.

Interactive Workshops: The afternoon will be about fun and networking with a variety of workshops on offer, stay in one workshop for the full 90 minutes or visit them all. Learn how to play the didgeridoo, practice your shake a leg, play some traditional Indigenous sports or work shop a performance for the WIPC:E Closing Ceremony, with an expected audience of 4,000 people!

Afternoon Performance by some of our local stars:

From Country to Blues to Hip Hop: The musical genres that have influenced our community and the styles we have made our own.
